Here's 4 Social Media Training Problems That Destroy Careers And Cost Governments 500,000+

Problem #1: Training Focus Must Include Social Media Liability, Not Just Social Media Marketing.

Problem #2: Superficial Training On The New Social Media Speech Laws

- Out Of 319 People Taking Our Basic Online Quiz This Year, 100% Failed The Quiz With A 9% Average Score
- Out of 1,286 Seminar Attendees Taking Our Basic Quiz This Year, 100% Failed The Quiz With A 8% Average Score

Problem #3: Costly Misperception That Any Attorney or Non-Lawyer Can Teach Employees Social Media Liability or Write Policies.

Here's A Simple Analogy

When You Have A Heart Problem You Seek Advice
From A Cardiologist, Not A Podiatrist.
Like Doctors, Today's Attorneys' Are Specialists.

"Great program. Being aware of the hidden liabilities not discussed in other courses saves your public image, and big legal fees."

- Cindy Reid,Town Attorney
Davidson, NC

Problem #4: The U.S. Supreme Court Now Views Social Media Policies And Training As Complex Legal Instruments That Require Specialized Legal Skills, Not Just Public Relations Skills.

This Means Non-Lawyers Writing Policies and Training Are Now Exposed To Unlicensed Practice Of Law and Tort Claims.

Courts Classify All Employees Using Social Media As Powerful Broadcasters On High Risk Platforms.
You Must Know The New Speech Laws.
